Italian Law no. 136 of August 13, 2010, article 3*SYNTHESIS

The Italian Law no. 136 of August 13, 2010, article 3, contains important provisions on the traceability of financial flows and introduces new obligations for public authorities and enterprises involved in public procurements. A decree approved on November 5th clarifies the scope of the provision.

The purpose of this Law is to increase the control on the financial flows in public contracts, as these kinds of contracts often represent the mean by which criminal organizations launder the money obtained through illegal transactions.

Under the new regulation, all operators in any way interested in public contracts have the obligation to use « dedicated » bank account through which must pass every financial transaction relating to the government procurement.

All transactions should be arranged by bank transfer or other means of payment ensuring the tracking of the transaction and should indicate the underlying public investment through a specific identification code—the so-called tender identification code (CIG) and the so-called unique code for project (CUP); both codes will be provided by the Italian Agency for Development Cooperation in Beirut.

All types of actors involved in the public procurement process are concerned by the new regulation: public authorities, purchasers, suppliers, contractors and sub-contractors.

The regulatory framework includes also two other provisions requiring:

- On the one hand, reciprocal control duties for contractors and sub-contractors (« The contractor or sub-contractor who has news of the failure of its counterparty obligations of financial tracking must immediately inform the public authority »)

- On the other hand, public authorities' supervision responsibilities with regard to all public procurement contracts (« The public authority shall verify that in the contracts between contractors and sub-contractors is inserted, on pain of absolute nullity, a clause by which each party assumes the obligations of the tracking of financial flows under this Act).
